

Foot and ankle

www.CrosswordWeaver.com

ACROSS

- 4 Blood supply to the foot descend from the _____ artery that branches from the femoral artery
- 7 Congenital _____ equinovarus is also known as club foot
- 8 Hallux valgus are commonly known as _____
- 10 With hallux valgus the great toe is displaced _____
- 12 Named after a Greek mythological hero, this tendon inserts into the calcaneus
- 14 Extension is known as _____
- 15 The plantar _____ ligament 'spring' ligament stretches from the calcaneus to the navicular
- 16 Bony prominence of the fibula is known as the lateral _____

DOWN

- 1 One classification of ankle fractures
- 2 Flexion of the ankle is known as _____ flexion
- 3 This bone articulates with the talus and medial cuneiform
- 5 The ankle has three arches that are reinforced and maintained by ligaments influenced by muscles. These are the medial longitudinal arch, lateral longitudinal arch and the _____ arch
- 6 The tibia articulates distally with the _____
- 9 _____ pedis is one pulse point located in the foot
- 11 Both longitudinal arches function in absorbing shock loads and helping the body to _____
- 13 Bony prominence of the tibia is known as the _____ malleolus